Just Desserts for Hungry Bacteria

Sanitation District Has Plans to Cool Off the Neighbors

NORTH COUNTY EDITION

THE POST

Vol. 32, No. 52 DELIVERED EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING Wednesday, December 27, 1978

By TERRY DAVENPORT

Noise and odor problems with the North San Mateo County Sanitation District's sewage treatment plant in Daly City are not due to mechanical failures they're caused by microscopic bacteria, according to plant operator Thomas Franza.

"Running a sewage plant is difficult because you're trying to control living beings," Franza said.

Those living beings are the bacteria that feed on sewage. Using bacteria is a popular method of treating sewage, but the little creatures can be temperamental.

For one thing, Franza said, it takes about a year to get the organisms in balance so the plant runs properly.

"You can't expect them to adjust overnight," he said. Franza pointed out that the secondary sewage treatment facility began running last December and that the district hasn't had any complaints for the last few weeks.

But the North County Sanitation District had enough previous complaints about noise and odors generated by the plant to take corrective steps.

With a $97,500 grant from the state, the district will build a soundproof enclosure around its oxygen generation unit within the next couple of months.

Meanwhile, the oxygen generation unit, which provides pure oxygen required by the bacteria, is shut off from 9 p.m. and 6 a.m. because nearby residents have complained that the noise of air rushing through the pipes is especially annoying when they're trying to sleep.

Until the enclosure is built, liquid oxygen will be piped to the bacteria during the night at an extra cost of about $1,000 per week.

Eliminating the sewage plant's odor problems will be more difficult. State officials have refused to pay for any modifications until the exact source of the odors is tracked down, a process that could take months.

Franza is certain the smells come from one of the large digesters used to remove suspended solids (known as "sludge") from wastewater.

Bacteria living in those digesters gobbles up the sludge but releases two byproducts, methane and carbon dioxide. Methane offends the noses of nearby residents.

The bubbling sludge is visible around the edges of the floating cover that rests on top of one of the digesters.

Franza said the district never has had an odor problem with its other digester, which has a fitted cover. But he said the floating cover is necessary because it prevents the methane gas from mixing too fast with oxygen and causing an explosion.

The district has proposed building a dome over the digester to trap the air emitted, then running that air through an odor-control scrubbing unit — at a cost of about $500,000.

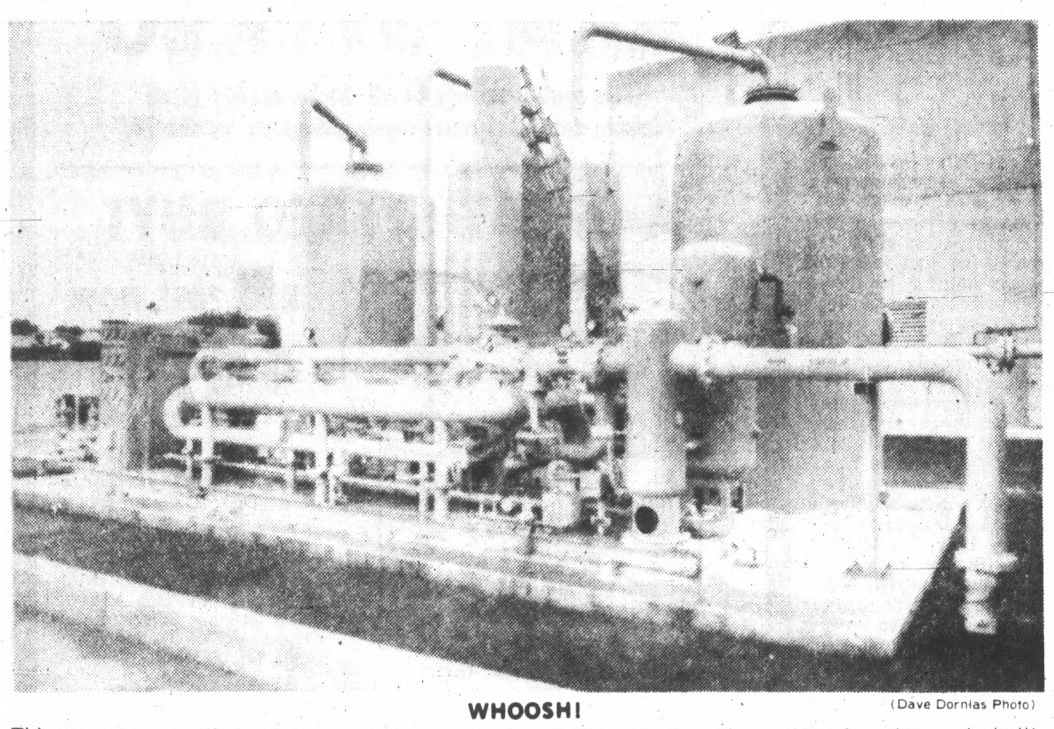

But the state wants to be sure its money is well spent before approving any more modifications to the plant.

Ironically, the district never had complaints about its plant until it opened the secondary treatment facility last year in accordance with federal regulations governing sewage. Although the district now has high quality sewage, local residents are paying a price for it.

This oxygen generation unit keeps residents in the vicinity of Daly City's sewage treatment plant awake nights. The noise, caused by oxygen rushing through the pipes at frequent intervals, should be eliminated when a soundproof enclosure is built around the unit. Until then, it's costing $1,000 per week to use liquid oxygen at night.

1978 in Review:

D.C. Mayor Glad It's Over

William Schumacher would just as soon forget 1978.

As mayor of Daly City, he's watched citizens react with fury over two garbage rate hikes and a water rate ncrease.

In the mayor's dual role as board chairman of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District, Schumacher has been in the midst of controversies about an estimated $400,000 overcharge of sewer users and alleged conflict-of-interest deals.

Complicated federal regulations have made it difficult to accomplish the seemingly simple goals of ousing rehabilitation, creating jobs under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act and building a new garbage transfer station.

The resignation of the city's top redevelopment expert, Donald Ciucci, caused concern about the future of the city's plans to rejuvenate the old part of Daly City. Ciucci leaves Jan. 31.

And then there was Proposition 13. After its passage in June, hundreds of angry citizens began attending council meetings and protesting loudly when the council started to make cuts in city spending.

Few residents bothered to attend later meetings when the council began to restore city services, thanks to unexpected income from property taxes and the state surplus.

The most dire consequences of Proposition 13 were a 24 percent reduction in the recreation budget, a 16 percent cut in library spending and the virtual elimination of the

Prop. 13 Missed Colma

Unlike other cities, the little town of Colma didn't feel the ravages of Proposition 13 during 1978.

Since Colma relies upon sales tax revenues instead of property taxes, this tiny North County city of 500 and 14 cemeteries was able to hire another city worker at the same time other cities were laying off employees.

While other city managers spent 1978 lamenting the future of local government, Colma City Clerk Frances Liston remarked, "It's been a real dull year."

Lt. Art Dollosso said the big event of the year in the Colma Police Department was the purchase of two new police cars.

Perhaps the most exciting news in Colma during 1978 was something that didn't happen: the groundbreaking for a K-Mart Shopping Center on a 10-acre lot at the corner of El Camino Real and Serramonte Boulevard.

Originally approved in April 1977, the development was delayed by litigation brought against the city by a local resident who said he feared a shopping center would disturb Colma's tranquility.

Council members sided with the developer, E. N. Maisel, who argued that his project would add $100,000 per year to the city's sales tax revenues, which currently amount to $700,000.

For unexplained reasons, Maisel has dawdled on the project. There is

CETA: They Do, Then They Don't

New regulations governing the spending of 1978-79 federal Comprehensive and Employment Act (CETA) funds are causing major concerns in San Mateo County.

The requirement raising the most eyebrows is one that puts an $833-per-month ceiling on the wages that may be paid to CETA workers hired with Title II (public service employment) allocations, which amount to more than $6 million in this county.

Wages of $833 per month are the absolute top. Congress wants the nation as a whole to pay salaries averaging $600 per month.

For Cindy Parma, Daly City's assistant personnel director, the change in law means she has to resubmit the city's request for 38 CETA workers with most of the salaries far below the $833-per-month ceiling.

The county asked her to plan to hire most workers at salaries from $640 to $670 per month.

"In order to arrive at that average for the 38 positions, we would have to have a significant number paid below $640," she said, adding the temptation to collect unemployment payments instead of working is great at that wage level.

She pointed out that $640 per month doesn't go very far in an area with as high a cost of living as the Bay Area.

"The new regulations are too restrictive. I am afraid that the requirements are going to prohibit us from reaching the people we want to reach," she said.

Ms. Parma agreed during negotiations with the county last Thursday to eliminate eight of the CETA workers approved for Daly City to boost the salaries of the remaining 30 to more reasonable levels.

For Julius Castelan, who operates a house painting CETA project in Daly City, the new law means he said, "I'll have to hire painters for $3.50 per hour. The going rate is $11 per hour and even the apprentice union pays $7 per hour. Where am I going to find people who will work for $3.50 per hour?"

Last year, when there was no requirement for an average wage, Castelan paid his painters $4.25 per hour.

To further complicate matters, cities must pay CETA workers the same salaries that city workers receive who do the same work.

The lowest entry level salary in Daly City is $769 per month.

Although it's possible that the U.S. Department of Labor will allow San Mateo County to pump up its CETA salaries a little because of area indexing allowances, local CETA administrators won't know for sure until Jan. 1.

Ironically, that's the same date the $833-per-month ceiling regulation takes effect.

James Irizarry, head of Redwood City's CETA program, said he doesn't know how to make the program live up to the conflicting regulations.

"It's characteristic of the Department of Labor to impose certain requirements and not be clear how we are supposed to carry them out," he said.

Comprehensive Employment and Training Act administrators are worried that workers like Bern Camozzi won't work for the low salaries permitted under 1978-79 regulations. Camozzi was hired under a 1977-78 CETA house painting program begun with CETA funds and continued with Daly City money at $4.25 per hour. Under new CETA regulations, he would earn $3.50 per hour.

Meanwhile, the paperwork is enormous. For example, Ms. Parma was informed late one Friday that completely revised specifications, budgets and activity summaries for Daly City's 38 CETA jobs were due the following Thursday.

Other problems caused by the new CETA regulations include:

PLANNING — Irizarry explained that it's hard to hire CETA workers when you don't know how much money you'll have to work with. "You can play a safe game and try not to overhire but then, all of a sudden, bingo! Two million dollars comes in and you have to figure out how to spend that grant before Sept. 30," he said.

DEADLINES — CETA administrators who don't use up the money in time have to give it back to the federal government. San Mateo County had to return $3 million in 1977-78 CETA funds because it couldn't spend the money fast enough.

ELIGIBILITY — Under new regulations, CETA workers hired with Title II funds have to have been unemployed for 15 weeks or longer instead of for 30 days as in 1977-78.

ADMINISTRATION — Previous legislation allowed 15 percent of CETA funds for administrative expenses and 85 percent for wages and benefits of CETA workers. Under a law that takes effect April 1, administrative expenses must be trimmed to 10 percent of the total budget, another 10 percent must go into training programs, and the amount available for wages and benefits will be 80 percent.

REGULATIONS — Because Congress hemmed and hawed over CETA too long, some of the regulations for the 1978-79 CETA program still are being drafted, meaning that CETA administrators currently are hiring for jobs without knowing all the laws that will affect them.

some speculation that the developer might wish to use the land for something else.

Any alternative plan for the property would have to be approved by the council.

Other projects have been moving along more rapidly. Turning Hillside Boulevard over to the county's jurisdiction for a temporary period allowed the county to spend $1.2 million in gas tax funds to widen the street.

Proprietors of the cemetery-related businesses along Hillside supported the project, pointing out that the wider street would make it easier for people to pull off the road and visit gravesites.

Construction of a city-wide water system is scheduled to begin soon. The council is scheduled to award bids for the $500,000 project in January.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Liston said the city is trying to convince state officials to put Colma higher on the state's priority list for a sewer improvement project that is expected to cost $1 million.

City officials are concerned that public storage spaces built on Junipero Serra Boulevard next to Woodlawn Cemetery are bringing in only $25 per year to the city because Colma's business license tax ordinance doesn't tax warehouses on revenues.

"The council will probably get around to changing this loophole in the ordinance next year," Mrs. Liston remarked.

Two frequent topics on council agendas during 1978 were revising the city's General Plan for the first time in 28 years and whether or not to repair the Town Hall. Councilmen are wondering if it's worthwhile to put much money into the building since it has termite damage and is proving too small for the city's needs.

City officials were pleased to learn this year that the state nominated Colma's cemeteries to the National Register of Historic Places.

They are waiting to hear if the National Park Service, part of the U.S. Department of the Interior, will accept that nomination.

No one is expecting a snap decision. The National Park Service has something in common with Colma: It moves very slowly.

city's capital improvement budget for construction projects.

It was an unfortunate year to be in the public eye. Schumacher has gotten used to tugs on his sleeves by wild-eyed constituents whenever he appears in public.

He lamented that his fiancee is beginning to have second thoughts about being married to someone with so little private time.

But there have been a few rewards to the job. Like most mayors, Schumacher enjoys officiating at ribbon-cuttings.

He beamed with pleasure when the city opened two tot lots and a new park. During the year, Daly City acquired property for two additional parks.

Just before Christmas, the city celebrated the opening of an elevator in City Hall — part of a $340,000 federally-funded project to make the building more accessible to the handicapped.

By the year's end, beautification of Mission Street was 60 percent complete and construction on a new garbage transfer station was on schedule. The new garbage facility should be operating by Feb. 1.

TeleCommunications, Inc., the local cable television company, asked for a rate hike early in 1978 but was turned down flat by the council. Much to the council's delight, the cable company didn't ask again.

Complaints about out-of-towners parking around the Bay Area Rapid Transit station in Daly City prompted the council to enact preferential parking. It worked.

Although BART threatened to use its power of eminent domain to build a turnaround for its trains further south in Daly City, the council was successful in stalling that plan for the time being.

Daly City won approval from the Local Agency Formation Commission to annex two unincorporated "islands" in the city's midst. One is the Southern Hills area. The other is the southern portion of the San Francisco Golf Course.

But Schumacher, who wanted to be mayor in 1976 and 1977 but didn't get there until 1978, may have second thoughts about taking on the job if it's offered again.

That I may know Him and the power of His Resurrection—

"Would that all who have not chosen Christ might realize that He has something vastly better to offer them than they are seeking for themselves. Man is doing the greatest injury and injustice to his own soul when he thinks and acts contrary to the will of God. No real joy can be found in the path forbidden by Him who knows what is best and who plans for the good of His creatures. The path of transgression is the path of misery and destruction." — Steps to Christ, page 46.

1978 in Broadmoor

Police Came Back

Broadmoor residents heralded the return of their police department last Feb. 28 with paper streamers, cheers and applause.

It was the biggest event of the year for the unincorporated community of 7,000 residents, which lost its men in blue for 15 months while searching for another liability insurance policy.

The new insurance policy costs about $1,500 less than the previous one. Until it was found, Broadmoor contracted with Daly City for police protection.

But restoring Broadmoor's local police did not bring an immediate end to the community's political troubles.

In December, commissioners received word that attorney Wayne McFadden of San Mateo is seeking legal authority to make the district pay his $19,298 bill for arguing a case on behalf of seven local residents, including Randy Wall, a present Broadmoor commissioner.

McFadden won the case, which was filed in June 1977, and stopped two previous Broadmoor commissioners from signing a seven-year police service contract with Daly City.

Broadmoor lost its accreditation by the state Commission on Police Officer Standards and Training (POST) when it lost its insurance coverage in 1976.

In an effort to be reaccredited, the district had to institute a training program for regular and reserve officers, restructure its ranks, reorganize personnel records and the police reserve program and institute background investigations for all employees prior to employment.

Broadmoor fulfilled those criteria and acquired POST accreditation on April 11.

Under Police Chief Willian Noonan, who was sworn in Feb. 27, the department also established an accounting system for department-issued equipment, detailed job specifications for all positions, restructured shift schedules, began a crime prevention program, computerized some departmental data and increased traffic law enforcement.

Noonan replaced William Beard, who was fired by the commission for "unsatisfactory performance during his probation period."

Proposition 13 posed a severe threat in 1978 because all of Broadmoor's revenues come from property taxes.

But a relieved Chief Noonan reported at the year's end that, with the help of state bail-out money and reserves, Broadmoor's 1978-79 operating budget amounts to 96 percent of the originally-anticipated budget of $278,000.

A more persistent threat to the unincorporated "island" in the middle of Daly City is the Local Agency Formation Commission's determination in 1975 that Broadmoor falls within Daly City's sphere of influence and should become part of Daly City.

A former Broadmoor commissioner who became disenchanted with the community made the first application affecting Broadmoor in 1978 under the 1975 LAFCO study.

Following public hearings, LAFCO and the Daly City City Council approved Dean Davenport's request that five properties near 91st Street and Sweetwood Drive in Broadmoor, along with their adjacent street right-of-ways, be annexed by Daly City.

3 Injured in Car Crashes

Three prsons were injured, two seriously, in a traffic accident involving four cars at Sullivan and Washington streets, Daly City, at about 10:20 p.m. Monday.

Daly City police said the indicdent started with a three-car mishap. Officers said witnesses told them the car of William B. Cooper, 25, of Sacramento, northbound on Sullivan, collided with the van of Delmar Pelagio, 30, of Colma, then struck the southbound car of Emmanuel Javier, 30, of Daly City.

Injured in the Cooper car were Perry Cooper, 25, and Marcus Rodriguez, 19, both of Hayward, police said.

A passing motorist, Rebecca Smith, 23, of San Jose, was injured when she got out of her car to help the other victims and was struck by on oncoming car driven by David Butler, 26, of Daly City, officers said.

Help Wanted

The following agencies have requested assistance from the Volunteer Bureau/Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County.

ADULT PROTECTIVE SERVICES in Daly City needs one volunteer to once a week call about 12 seniors to see if they will be attending a Friday afternoon group session for seniors and to arrange transportation by Redi-Wheels. Can be done at home.

SUICIDE PREVENTION AND CRISIS CENTER need people with a desire to help, a willingness to learn, warmth, understanding and reliability and four free hours each week. Those people will receive training in crisis intervention skills, learn the dynamics of depression and suicide. Training begins Jan. 20, and will be in the evenings and weekends.

IN HOME CARE SYSTEM is looking for volunteers four hours a week on a three — month commitment to make follow-up phone calls to seniors. The agency tries to help the ill, disabled and elderly stay in their home out of a hospital or nursing home. Anyone interested in gerontology, or someone with listening skill and caring would appreciate this job which can eventually be done at home.

THE VOLUNTEER BUREAU is developing a skill bank and is looking for people with professional skills (accounting, legal, management) and are willing to be listed in the skill bank.

For more details about these and other opportunities, contact the Volunteer Bureau in Burlingame) 342-0801.

Interviews will be made in Daly City by appointment through the North County number (992-0957).

A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County, the Bureau shares in the United Way of the Bay Area and is funded, in part by the County of San Mateo.

Opera Auditions

Awards and Judges have been announced for the 1979 Metropolitan Opera Auditions to be held Jan. 19, 20 and 21 at San Francisco State University.

The Preliminary Auditions, Jan. 19 and 20, will run from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Judges will be Mrs. Lorene Adams, noted Bay Area soprano, Ted Puffer, music director of the Reno Opera Association.

The Final Auditions will take place on Jan. 21, beginning at 1:30 p.m. Judges will be Maestro George Cleve, director of the San Jose Symphony, Mary Costa, famed operatic soprano, and Glynn Ross, executive director of the Seattle Opera Company.

At the Final Auditions cash awards will be presented totalling more than $2,500.

Disco and the Swing Featured at Class

Daly City's Recreation Department announces that the winter session of the Social Dance Instruction Program will feature Disco, Swing and Cha Cha.

The six-week program will be under the instruction of Gene Evans and will be on Tuesdays, Jan. 16-Feb. 20, at the Westlake Community Center from 8-9:30 p.m.

Resident registration deadline is Jan. 12 and the fee is $9.50 for resident couples and $14.25 for non-resident couples.

Advanced registration is required and fees will not be accepted at the class.

To register, send name, complete address, daytime phone with correct fee to the Daly City Recreation Department, 134 Hillsdale Blvd., Daly City, 94014.

Individuals wishing a confirmation of registration must enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Check should be made payable to Daly City Recreation Department. Daly City and Colma residents will be given preference for all sessions.

Non-resident registration will be accepted only if openings are available following the deadline. Refunds cannot be made after the first class of each session, and students will not be added to a session once the second class has been held.

For details call 992-5356.

Teacher To Study Abroad

Dennis G. Carr, a teacher in the Jefferson Elementary School District, has been appointed by the American Institute for Foreign Study (AIFS) accompany a group of students on an adventure/travel progam abroad.

The program is organized by the American Institute for Foreign Study of Greenwich, Connecticut. AIFS has been developing educational travel programs abroad for 15 years: More than 130,000 students have participated in these "experiences" abroad.

On the program, "Crossroads of Culture," the students will visit eight major cities throughout Europe including a week in London where they will stay at Richmond College and have the opportunity to study a variety of courses. This itinerary is devised in such a way that the students can discover for themselves the history, art and people of five different countries.

Carr has noted that there are places available in the group and interested students and/or their parents are invited to contact him at: 2870 Summit Drive, Hillsborough 94010, for further information.

Members of the Friends of the Daly City Library Book Fair Committee suggest to members of the community who have received gifts of books or records during the holidays that The Friends would welcome donations of discarded older items. Donations may be left at any of the four Daly City public libraries. The next book fair is scheduled for Feb. 3, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the Westlake Shopping Center. Samuel Chandler

Here come I, Old Father Christmas
Christmas ready or not,
I hope Old Father Christmas
Will never be forgot.
From the Old English Mummers Song.

Children of the martyr race
Whether free or fettered,
Wake the echoes of the songs;
Where ye may be scattered.
Yours the message cheering
Which shall see
All men free;
Tyrants disappearing.

From Fortress Rock:
The Song of Hanukkah.

It is fitting that Christmas and Hanukkah should be celebrated at the same time. They are twin holidays marking important victories in man's long fight for freedom.

Jesus of Nazareth and Mattathias Maccabee, whose victories are commemorated by Hanukka — inherited the ancient Israelites contention that mankind should be free; not to be like everyone else, but to be different from everyone else.

"The Jews," as Theodor Gaster wrote, "were a kingdom of priests and a holy nation, a society of man dedicated to the presence of God and to exemplify His law and dispensation on earth." In all their wars, they fought for the right to worship their God although surrounded by thousands of people as Baal and the Grecian deities.

In joining the Maccabees, they gave notice to the Greeks who overran Palestine, that the Jews were a people who would remain aloof to the loose morals and improprieties of the world of Alexander the Great and Antiochus.

The teachings of Jesus combine the Jewish love for freedom with an exalted view of the worth of the individual. "Ye are the salt of the earth," he said. "The Kingdom of Heaven is within you." Jesus went out of his way to elevate the victims of social injustice, while other men shunned the lepers, he healed them. He raised the woman taken in sin with simple words, "Go thy way and sin no more." Beneath the worldly demeanor of unlettered fisherman and greedy taxpayers, he saw the souls of preachers, authors and the courage of soldiers for the Cross. "They shall deliver you up to affected," he told them, "and shall kill you; and ye shall be hated of all nations for my name's sake . . . but he that shall endure to the end, the same shall be saved."

These are the words of a patriot who preaches real liberty — freedom of the will — freedom of the spirit within. Jesus refused to listen to the soothing sounds of enslavers of Rome. As Emerson wrote of him, "He dared to preach the greatness of man." No wonder the poet, Sidney Lanier, penned these lines to Jesus of Nazareth:

"But Thee, but Thee, O sovereign Seer of time
But Thee, O poet's Poet, Wisdom's tongue,
But Thee, O man's best man, O loves best love,
O perfect life in perfect labor write
O all men's comrade, servant, King and priest, —
Oh, what amiss may I forgive in Thee,
Jesus, good Paragon, thou Crystal Christ."

Christmas and Hanukkah are twin holidays, affording mankind an opportunity to renew their faith in right for each person to be himself — to be different if he desires.

Brisbane Fire Fighters Lose Plea for Jury Trial

A request by San Mateo County Firefighters Union Local No. 2400 for a jury trial of its suit against the City of Brisbane was denied this week by Superior Court Judge Walter Capaccioli.

But Brisbane agreed to let the union add seven more complaints to those previously made against the city in the union's attempt to restore 10 firemen to the Brisbane Fire Department.

The Brisbane City Council eliminated 10 firemen last summer as a cost-cutting measure and set up a new Public Safety Department to provide police and fire services. Reserve firemen and city officials have been trained to help fight fires.

Local No. 2400 filed its original suit against Brisbane, its five council members and City Manager Brad Kerwin last August. Other plaintiffs in the case are the Concerned Citizens Advisory Committee — a Brisbane group whose aim is to restore the firemen — and James Baker, CCAC chairman.

Some of 57 allegations in the original suit have already been settled. A number of them revolved around wording on the November ballot of a CCAC initiative that asked if voters wanted the firemen restored. The ballot measure was defeated.

Some of Local No. 2400's latest charges against Brisbane are that:

- Brisbane reduced fire protection below levels mandated in government codes.
- City Manager Kerwin circumvented the union and violated seniority rights when he hired back three of the 10 laid-off firefighters as reserve firemen at lower salaries.
- Brisbane did not hire back two former Brisbane firefighters because of their involvement in Local No. 2400.
- Brisbane is trying to eliminate Local No. 2400.

The judge gave City Attorney George Silvestri until Jan. 5 to answer or demur those charges.

Silvestri said that some of the points he will raise are that:

- Brisbane is providing the same level of protection as in 1977-78.
- The only penalty for not maintaining the same level of protection as last year is losing the city's share of the state surplus, which amounts to $62,000. Silvestri said it would cost Brisbane $250,000 to restore the 10 firefighters.
- Seniority rights only apply to employees being rehired to the same positions.
- Brisbane categorically denies the charge that it is trying to eliminate the union.

Sierra Pt. In Business

Brisbane got a big Christmas present from the Bay Conservation and Development Commission Thursday afternoon.

The 17 commissioners present at BCDC's regular meeting in San Francisco unanimously approved plans for the $7 million Sierra Point Marina that Brisbane wants to build on 20 acres of bayfront land two miles south of San Francisco.

City Manager Brad Kerwin said Friday, "This may well be the most significant event in the history of Brisbane...This really was the key decision as to whether or not we'd have a project out there."

He explained that the project, which includes a 600-berth marina, two restaurants, a ship chandler's shop and boating repair and storage yard, "is the key to the financial well-being of Brisbane as well as providing a regional recreational asset to the public."

City officials worried aloud prior to the BCDC meeting, noting that the commission's decision would make or break the project.

"If they had said 'no,' we wouldn't have a project," Kerwin said.

Before approving the Sierra Point marina, the commissioners added several conditions to the development that Kerwin described as "fairly standard conditions that are attached to virtually all applications."

Those conditions include architectural and engineering reviews of the specific plans, when they are drawn, and access to the marina. "We've known that we will have to provide access from the onset of the project," Kerwin said.

The commission has yet to decide the fate of a separate 80-acre project proposed for Sierra Point by Southern California developer Byron Lasky.

Lasky has received tentative parcel map approval from Brisbane to build a 1,000-room hotel and convention center, office buildings, a golf course, a 600-car parking lot, specialty shops, a small motel and a 20-acre park adjacent to the city's marina.

Kerwin said the developer will probably have to provide a new interchange from Freeway 101 in order to win approval for his project.

Although the city manager said the city officials were "fairly confident" about receiving BCDC's approval for the marina, they suffered from last-minute jitters before the Thursday meeting.

The commissioners' vote in favor of the marina caused the Brisbane contingent to break out in smiles. They thanked the commissioners profusely and wished them a "Merry Christmas."

Harbor Commission to Change Meeting Schedule

The San Mateo County Harbor Commission, meeting in Foster City, voted to change its meeting schedule in the coming year.

Beginning Jan. 3, it will meet the first Wednesday of each month in Half Moon Bay and the third Wednesday at the yacht club at Oyster Point, South San Francisco.

Previously, the commission met the first four weeks in, successively, Half Moon Say, Oyster Point, Foster City and Redwood City.

The commission put off any decision Wednesday night on the method of conducting meetings. Some commissioners have pushed for a single ordinance that will contain all of the procedures, rather than have them, as they are now, encompassed in several different ordinances and forms.

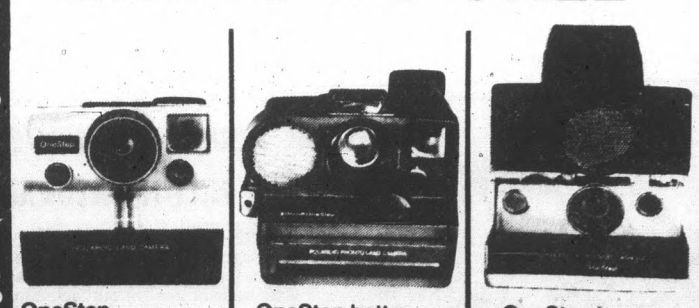

An item debated at the previous meeting, a change order which will allow Piombo Construction Co., the contractor, to add substantial additional fill to Oyster Point Marina (a 30-acre site under complete marina development, at a cost of about $147,000) went through without fanfare Wednesday after it received the blessing of district engineer Cecil Wells.

The commissioners also voted to accept the transfer of matching funds for development of the park at the Marina. A small portion will be for picnic and day use next to the beach, and all of the area is open space.

Peter Noonan of Golden Gate Docks presented an exhibit and explanation of a modern plastic dock floatation device, which would be correlated with dock construction and utilities in a unit.

Le Pacini

Steve Mezzera, a former Jefferson Union High School District coach who was once a teammate of Norm Van Brocklyn's at Oregon and who is now a Jefferson High counselor, attended a Petaluma Leghorns reunion several months ago and suggested that semi-pro football in the area might make fodder for a column some long winter day — and so it has.

For those of you unfamiliar with the subject, the Leghorns were, in their day (1946-58), the scourge of Northern California semi-professional football, which once flourished, even in competition with the fledgling 49ers and another semi-pro league which starred the San Francisco Clippers, who played out of Kezar Stadium and featured a clever quarterback named Vic Ramos and who actually got paid money, unlike many players intl Western Football Association (the forerunner of the NorCAL league). Many of them were lucky to get expenses and a few free belts (not the kind they got on the field) after the game.

Before pro football progress and television did them in, the Leghorns were not only the toast of the "Egg Basket of the World," but were covered by most of the Bay Area newspapers and even the wire services, as newspaper reports of their games ranged from Eureka to Los jangeles.

During their dozen year reign the Leghorns compiled a record of 88-32-4, and usually took the championship of whatever league they were in (several were formed during that period, often including the same teams).

Their 1949 team, with a 12-1-1 record, scored 551 points. They were coached by Gene Benedetti and led on the field by quarterback Fred "The Fox" Klemenok, a trtttthreat gate draw.

'1Some of the other names I remember were Al Endriss, who played at San Francisco Ste,did a short st etch as an end for the 49ers, and is now a successful high school baseball coach; Joe Negri, a big lineman, who, the last time I saw him, was in the bar and restaurant business in Occidental; Bob Rodrige, a Little All American fullback at San Francisco State who later went into college coaching and is now at Hayward State; the late USF star halfback Ray Barni; George Lagorio, a fullback (voted into the Leghorn Hall of Fame as their all-time best back); offensive tackle Butch Burtner and guard Paul Ross (the Leghorns' all-time best offensive linemen); defensive back Ples Crews (Leghorn all-time best defensive back) and all-time defensive linemen George Glass and Lee Vyenielo, a couple of defensive ends.

Interesting to look back at the sizes of these "bruisers." Lagorio, the great line-smasher, was 6-1, weighed 200. Burtner was 6-3, 200; Ross, 6-1, 195. Glass and Vyenielo were 5-11, 190 and 6-3, 210, respectively.

At the REAL local level I best remember the South San Francisco Wind Breakers, who played in the same league with the "Leggies," a league which also included, at one time or the other, when I was regularly attending games in the late forties, early fifties, San Jose, Horsetrader Ed's, Santa Cruz, Sunset (San Francisco), Castlemont, Santa Rosa, Oakland Ocean AC and Manteca.

The Windbreakers played at Hunter Field, and I fondly remember the big (217 pounds) star fullback Robbie Barbetti and the slick tailback (they played single-wing) Aldo DeTomasi, and blocking quarterback Laz Avelar, and the tackle, Pancho Angeli, at 237 the biggest man on the team.

I remember that Santa Cruz had Harry Fromm, who had been an All-City fullback at Poly High in San Francisco, but was only a second stringer for the Seahawks. And old Horsetrader Ed really tried to load up. He must have played plenty ("under the table") to Paul Crow, who had quarterbacked St. Mary's and had just put in a year with the 49ers prior to Ed's "acquiring" him. Ed also brought in former Stanford fullback Emery Mitchell, who, as I remember, was hampered by a bad knee, the absence of which probably would have gained him entry to the real pros. Other notables on Ed's team (which couldn't win a championship, if memory serves), were Cal end Bob Losey; USF fullback Frank Manko; USF center Frank Budnik; UCLA end DAve Dobrow; Cal center Lou Pappais; Cal guards Bobby Dodds and Duke Zenovich; Cal tackles Hank Borghi and John Najarian; St. Mary's end Frank Carrillo; University of Washington guard Bob Levenhagen; Bernie Winkler, a tackle from Texas Tech; and Al Alston, an end from the San Francisco Clippers.

I got hooked on the Windbreakers because a friend of mine from the neighborhood, Joe Muzzin, who had played at Balboa, made second string. Joe was a halfback (yes, that's what they called them in those days), a little scat-back type who didn't play very often but who was one of the most exciting runners I had seen to that time. Joe would sometimes run 50 yards avoiding tackles and get only two yards up-field, but I loved to watch him and the Windbreakers in those innocent days when kids played football entirely for the love of the game.

LOCAL NOTES:

Tom Bolla, a 1977 Crestmoor grad, recently signed with the Giants for a substantial bonus. A good defensive catcher who also hits for power, Bolla skipped signing — thank God — with the Dodgers, who originally drafted him, opting for a year at Skyline College, where this past season he was the leading hitter (362), MVP, and All-Conference.

The new women's basketball coach at Skyline, incidentally, is Pam Reagan, a 1966 Terra Nova grad who also coaches volleyball a Serramonte.

* * * * *

A ROUND OF MISCELLANY:

Critics, Shut-up Department: Get off Errol Mann's back, you front-running Raider fans. The guy is the FOURTH best percentage field goal kicker in NFL HISTORY! With his 64.45 he's behind only Don Cockroft (66.94), Garo Yepremian (65.18) and Jan Stenerud (64.48). And, going into this season, he had more attempts than Cockcroft and Yepremian, so the percentage is no phony. Place kickers get into slumps just like Pete Roses do.

And lay off O. J. Simpson. Had O. J. not been hurt and continued averaging the same amount of yards gained per game as he had before his injury (and odds are he would have improved that average, because the 49er rookie linemen improved after O. J. left), he would have gained comfortably over 1,000 yards with a rookie team beset with injuries. Any other NFL runner with that kind of record — particularly a 31 year old — would have been deluged with positive — not negative — headlines.

And forget about the loss of Jim Barr. He was the only Giants pitcher last year who gave up more hits than innings pitched.

And if you REALLY want to honor late San Francisco mayor George Moscone, think of some way other than re-naming Candlestick in his "honor." It has the worst press and prestige of any athletic facility in the nation.

Shamrocks Now Living on Hope

By TIM MENICUTCH

If nothing else, hope is keeping the San Francisco Shamrocks alive.

Not only on the ice, where the Shamrocks keep losing heart-breaking decisions and continue to flounder in the Pacific Hockey League cellar, but behind the scenes in the front office where money is sparce.

It was rumored that the Shamrocks were on the verge of folding. This turned out to be more than a rumor and if not for David Peterson, President and owner of the World Team Tennis Gaters stepping in and paying the Shamrock players salaries which were very late, the players had already decided they would not show up for Friday night's game against Phoenix.

The Shamrocks financial problems are not bad, they've reached the crisis level. Before Friday night's contest Ma Bell came along and disconnected all the main office phones at the Cow Palace because the bill had not been paid.

But Peterson may not turn out to be as wonderful as the dwindling Shamrocks fans think. "At this point I have no idea whatsoever whether or not I'll take over ownership of this club," said Peterson bluntly. "So far all I've done is loan some money so that the players wouldn't walk out. I've got to look into it before I make a decision."

Then why would a man offer $15,000 to an obviously struggling franchise?

Peterson explained simply, "Momentary insanity."

Not quite so insane below the surface, though. It's common knowledge that Peterson is trying to revive the struggling WTT. He said that he has contacted various hockey owners around the country in hopes of getting them interested in purchasing a WTT franchise. The move with the Shamrocks could aid his persuasiveness, not to mention the vast amount of publicity it got him from local newspapers and TV stations.

If Peterson is doing more than bluffing, it would be a huge boost from the Shamrocks organization. He has a large publicity staff which operates only half the year, opposite the hockey season. Whatever Peterson decides to do, he must do it quickly. He has until the end of the current year to make a decision.

Should Peterson decide not to take over the club, the Shamrocks are in more trouble than they realize.

Defenseman and alternate captain Ric Garcia, one of the most aggressive players in the PHL said he will retire should the situation remain the same.

"I'm not a quitter," said Garcia. "But with the franchise the way it is, I don't have any choice. I have a family to support and bills to pay.

"We finally got our paychecks," continued Garcia. "But it wasn't all they owed me. A half a loaf of bread is better than none at all, but I can't take that to the bank and make my mortgage payments. Don't get me wrong, when they pay me I make a good living. But I can't take this kind of situation any longer. If this new owner doesn't come through, I've just played my last game."

The words were obviously hard for Garcia to get out, "I love hockey. Hell, when I was single I would've played for free.

"The publicity for this club hasn't been good at all," he continued. "I've done more public relations myself than the management has. Last year Bob (Sunderland) and I went around to hospitals and visited with sick kids. I even started a free hockey clinic in Burlingame for any kids who wanted to show up.

"I really enjoy playing hockey here, but if things can't get together I've got no choice except retirement," concluded Garcia.

Getting to the action on the ice, the Shamrocks lost again bowing to Phoenix 4-3. San Francisco drops to 4-15-1 in the PHL standings.

This week's games, originally scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday have been postponed to later dates while the club goes through its transistional period.

'Turnaround' For Skyline

By FRED BAER

Christmas weekend brought Skyline College basketball coach Lyle Newcomer two things he wanted — a home JC basketball game and a last minute victory.

The Trojans had dropped their four previous close games this season (including one to the top team in the state) and were starting to wonder if they were snakebit.

Friday night's 73-72 victory over defending Camino Norte Conference champion Santa Rosa JC was "a turnaround game for us," said Newcomer. "If we had lost it, our confidence would really have been shaken. You need a win sometimes to show you can win close games."

But Skyline (6-5 overall) has also been on the road all season (except for a pair of JV games) and will be traveling again for the next month — until Coast Conference rival Menlo visits on Jan. 20.

The Santa Rosa victory meant a perfect year at home for the Trojans — who now have a 20-game home-court win streak dating to a 60-53 loss to Hartnell on Feb. 2, 1977. (Skyline "recovered" to win the state Division II title in '77.)

And that skein was in serious danger Friday as Skyline trailed by five, 62-57, with 2:55 left after Santa Rosa guard Garry Mendenhall sank his 30th point. But that was also the Bearcubs' final point for the 20th-ranked Bearcubs, now 8-5.

Skyline guard Rick Lundgren hit a 20-foot jumper from the side with 2:23 left. Thirty seconds later he took a stolen ball pass on the run at center court from Reggie Love and hit a jumper from the top of the key to close it to 62-61.

Santa Rosa tried to stall again and a traveling call gave the ball back to the Trojans. Skyline guard Louis Reynaud hit an 18-foot jumper from the side of the free throw lane with 1:25 showing to account for the final points. Santa Rosa's Paul Malama missed a jumper with 1:05 left and the Trojans kept the ball most of the final minute. Ironically the Bearcubs were hurt by the fact they had committed only four fouls in the second half.

They had to foul Skyline three times to get to the seven foul bonus situation that brought Reynaud to the line with ten seconds showing.

The 5-11 Reynaud, who had hit on six of nine field goals for 12 points, missed the charity but fought for the rebound and got a jump ball with seven seconds left.

He was out-jumped by 6-3 Guy Gardener and Santa Rosa still had a chance to win it. But Mendenhall's hurried try from the top of the key missed and Skyline's Brad Levesque grabbed the rebound at the buzzer.

Skyline dominated the boards, 39-26, with Levesque taking in 12 and James Reed ten (plus seven assists). Love tallied 18 points, had six assists and six rebounds.

Skyline travels to Stockton Wednesday for the three-day San Joaquin Delta tournament, drawing 13th-ranked Sacramento CC (7-2) in the 3 p.m. opener.

SANTA ROSA JC 62

Balmy 4 0-0 8, Mendenhall 11 8-9 30, Shired 2 0-0 4, Murray 3 0-0 6, Malama 2 2-2 6, Raven 1 2-2 4. Totals: 25 12-13 62.

Halftime: Skyline 33, Santa Rosa 30. Fouled out: none. Total fouls: Santa Rosa 12, Skyline 17. Field goal percentages: Santa Rosa 455 (25-55), Skyline 517 (31-60).

Skyline Girls Win

Freshman Tina Palapele caught fire in the second half with 12 points but the Skyline women's basketball team's inability to generate a smooth-flowing offense led to a 58-44 loss at the hands of visiting Santa Rosa Friday night.

Still attempting to perfect their play against a zone defense, Skyline committed 29 turnovers. But there were some good moments too.

Steadily improving Beth Salvatin showed off her passing ability by zipping in a few crosscourt assists down low to frontliners Roberta Hernandez (seven points), Cyndi Thurston (six points) and Palapele.

A Capuchino High grad who never played high school ball, Palapele displayed the instincts of a veteran player, sneaking in for backdoor layups and getting excellent rebounding position on both boards. The 5-8 forward finished with 16 points and 17 rebounds to lead Skyline in both categories.

Santa Rosa 58

Warmack 1 0-0 2, Succetti 1 1-2 3, Bulier 3 1-2 7, Robinson 1 0-0 2, Rooney 3 0-0 6, Mustad 4 2-3 10, Ketcham 7 0-0 14, Grayaldo 6 2-5 14. Totals: 26 2-12 58.

Halftime Score: Santa Rosa 28, Skyline 19. Total Fouls: Santa Rosa 16, Skyline 12. Fouled Out: None.

A SPECIAL LIMITED OFFER FROM THE TIMES

The $3.25 monthly, home-delivery rate to The Times was established on June 1, 1974. Since that time, the costs of producing and delivering a newspaper have increased tremendously.

FOR EXAMPLE:

√ during the past 4½ years, a ton of newsprint has risen from $213.50 to $320.00, an increase of 50%. On February 1, 1979, it will be increased another $25.00 which will place it 62% above the June 1, 1974, level.

√ During 1979, wages and salaries will be approximately 50% above the 1974 level.

MANY OTHER EXPENSES HAVE INCREASED SIMILARLY!

All of the increased expenses have necessitated a subscription rate increase, which was announced on November 30, 1978. The monthly home delivery rate for The Times is now $3.75 per month, still less than 15 cents per issue.

PASTRY WINNER

Rose Clurman of Daly City, a student at Canada College, Redwood City, participates in the recent Western regional Kraft Student Culinary Challenge. Ms. Clurman received an honorable mention ribbon for her pastry entry.

Canada Student Takes Top Award

Suzette Gresham is used to holding her own in the foodservice kitchen — an area once dominated by male chefs and waiters.

As an apprentice chef and culinary student at Canada College in Redwood City, Ms. Gresham knows her trade well enough to have greatly impressed the judges at the latest Kraft Student Culinary Challenge. They named her first prize winner.

Ms. Gresham is the first woman to become a regional winner in Kraft's unique nationwide competition. This Western Challenge was the last opportunity for students to meet regionally, show their skills, and vie for the right to travel to Kraft's New York final scheduled for February.

Students representing14 schools from a 17-state area competed in the Kraft event at Diablo Valley College in Pleasant Hill.

As in the other three Kraft regional Challenges, entries ranged from towering wedding cakes to delicate seafood mousses and colorful vegetable flower bouquets. Platters were organized in five categories: Bread & Bread Products, Pastry, Seafood, Meat & Poultry and Fruit Carving. Sculpture and Other Category displays were optional for the more ambitious students.

To make it an educational event for everyone involved, Kraft organized the chef instructors from the participating schools as the judging panel. Entries were then evaluated on the basis of presentation, preparation, composition, practicality and innovation. Three executive chefs from San Francisco presided during the official judging.

Ms. Gresham, an apprentice at the Dunfey Hotel, San Mateo, took top honors for her cake (featuring the Kraft Student Culinary Challenge logo intricately executed in marzipan) and her seafood platter, which included a tallow lighthouse sculpture. She received a check for $200 and a personal certificate.

It was definitely a victory for women that day when Judy Canizales, also of Canada College, was named second prize winner and recipient of $100 and a certificate. Ms. Canizales had been hesitant to display her petit fours and poultry entries before the judging because they had both been damaged in transit. Her talents were obvious to the judges, however!

Third prize, $75 and a certificate, was awarded to Mark Casaretto, another Canada College student, who is also an apprentice at the Burlingame Country Club in Hillsborough.

In addition to the winners' cash prizes, Kraft Foodservice gave donations to the culinary arts program of the students' school — in this case, Canada College received all three donations. The two apprentices received certificates to present to their employers.

Judges awarded Best of Category and Honorable Mention ribbons to many outstanding entries in each governing category.

In February, when Gresham is flown to New York City for Kraft's national final, she will join the Midwest, Eastern and Southern regional winners to compete for the national championship title. Mark Haight of Detroit is the winner from the Midwest. George Wagenseller Jr. of Philadelphia is the Eastern regional winner, and Daniel Winans of Dallas recently was named the Southern regional winner. The four finalists will be judged by a panel of professional chefs on their capabilities in on-site food preparation.

Ms. Gresham isn't a bit worried about being the only woman finalist. Her concern right now is who will substitute for her in the Dunfey kitchen while she's in New York.

At Mary's Help

Alcohol Treatment Center

Alcoholism is America's third leading health problem.

In response to this Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City offers a 21-day alcoholism treatment and rehabilitation program in its "Careunit." This program is part of the total patient care provided at Mary's Help.

The Careunit includes medically supervised inpatient treatment including detoxification followed by a 21-day rehabilitation program and follow-up outpatient treatment.

The Mary's Help Hospital Careunit will introduce a new educational program in 1979. The program is for the general public and will provide information on alcoholism, a problem which affects tens of thousands of people each year.

The unique feature about the Careunit program at Mary's Help is that it is aimed at people besides the alcoholic. Special programs will focus on people involved with someone who has a drinking problem. Co-alcoholics, anyone who is concerned with someone with a drinking problem, will be the focus of various sessions throughout the year.

The Careunit programs will consist of mini-lectures, films, guest speakers and open discussions. A meeting will be held the fourth Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the ground floor auditorium of the hospital.

"The new programs will give people an opportunity to experience sobriety, serenity and sanity even though alcoholism exists in their life," said Don Frolli, program coordinator of the Careunit at Mary's Help.

Each meeting will follow a specific theme. Upcoming sessions include: Family Intervention, Young People and Alcohol, Alcoholism and the Family, Recovery: How it Works, Medical Aspects of Alcoholism, Employed Alcoholics and the Woman Alcoholic.

Guest speakers will include representatives from public organizations concerned with alcoholism.

THE DIET CORNER

By ELISE GENDAR

Different types of diets different types of food.

Reducing diets are not synonomous with dietetic food. The astronomical calories content of food labeled "dietetic" could destroy your calorie count. The reason? They are intended for a medical diet program, not a weight loss one.

It's okay, for instance, for someone with diabetes to eat a dietetic candy bar with 200 calories just as long as it contains no sugar. (And also if weight is not a problem.) Can you imagine what that would do to someone on a 1,200 calorie per day reducing diet?

Then there are diets for th se who must have low fat levels because of a cholesterol problem.

And diets for those who must restrict salt. None of these need restrict calories.

So what's a poor ordinary, run-of-the-mill, must-lose-weight dieter to do?

Read the labels, that's what.

Now more than ever in holiday season. The holly and the mistletoe seem to bring out the gifties in the family. The gifties dictate that the dieter should enjoy something sweet, something in tune with the season. It's off to the store in search of the right something. Needless to say, without knowledge, the right something becomes the wrong something. Moral is to accept every "diet" gift with gratitude and look at the label with jaundiced eye.

There are times when the dietetic version of a food may be higher in calories than its every day counterpart. Consider the simple chocolate wafer. This innocent cookie for dieters masks almost twice as many calories as the non-diet version. It is simply sweetened without benefit of sugar. This is not a green light to eat regular chocolate wafers. It is a red light to bewar le all chocolate wafers.

You know that I'll provide you with the best substitute.

And here it is — a receipe for cookies that will Christmas your cooking and safeguard your diet both.

CHOCOLATE SQUARES

- 2 eggs
- 2 envelopes Alba 77 chocolate
- 1 small banana
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- ½ tsp. baking soda
- ½ tsp. baking powder
- ½ tsp. cinnamon
- 1 cup Cheerios cereal

Beat all ingredients, except Cheerios with electric mixer at medium speed, until well mixed. Add cereal and beat 1 minute longer. Pour into vegetable sprayed 8 inch square pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until toothpick inserted comes out clean. When cool, cut into 16 squares.

Watch this space for the best of 1979's diet tips, hints, and recipes.

My happiest holiday greetings and warmest wishes for the New Year that can bring with it a New You!

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

With all the plain and fancy cooking and baking we have been doing the last few weeks, I think we deserve a dessert recipe that's a snap to make. This gem fits the bill, plus that, it's inexpensive and serves a good crowd.

LEMON MYSTERY DESSERT

- 1 package lemon gelatin
- 1¼ cups hot water
- Juice and grated rind of one lemon
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1 large can evaporated milk
- Dash of salt
- Graham cracker crust
- English Toffee candy crumbs
- ½ pint whipping cream

Combine the one package lemon gelatin with the one and one-fourth cups hot water. Add the grated rind and juice of one lemon, the third cup sugar and dash of salt. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Place in refrigerator and chill until cold and syrupy.

In the meantime, pour the evaporated milk into ice cube tray and allow it to just begin to freeze. (To the point where little fingers of ice appear at the edge of the tray.) Fold evaporated milk into the syrupy gelatin and mixture and whip until about double in volume. Pour into graham cracker crust in 9x13-inch pan and chill. Top with whipped cream and sprinkle with crushed English Toffee.

Last-Minute Donations

By ARVILLE FINACOM

Looking for last minute tax benefits? It may seem crass to equate holiday gift giving with personal gain; yet, realistically, a cash donation this time of year to a nonprofit group takes on value not only for what it does for the recipient's cause but for its income tax deductibility as well.

If you haven't figured out how much Proposition 13 "savings" will cost you in additional federal and state income taxes, do so before Dec. 31. Then, when you consider "government" takes three dollars to accomplish one dollar's worth of benevolence (according to a report published by the Better Business Bureau detailing research done by the National Association of Life Underwriters), you may find it pays to do more deductible giving before the New Year, especially since IRS allows up to 50 percent of adjusted gross income in donations to qualified non-profit organizations, foundations and public agencies providing one has verifiable receipts.

If medical research is your interest, give to Heart, Cancer, Cerebral Palsy, Muscular Dystrophy, Birth Defects, the Lung Association and the Easter Seal Society. Teaching and non-profit hospitals in the area including UC Medical, Stanford, Mt. Zion, Presbyterian, Mary's Help and St.Luke's also maintain non profit funds. Research in a rarer disease, Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis, continues through contributions to ALSSOA, 12011 San Vicente Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90049.

Another malady, considered "exotic" by many, is leprosy, no longer incurable if diagnosed and treated early with a sulfa compound. President Jimmy Carter has declared Jan. 28, 1979 as "World Leprosy Day" saying, "On this day I ask all Americans to join me in my hope and prayer that in our lifetime leprosy will become but an unpleasant memory and that the suffering it causes will end forever." American Leprosy Missions, a member of the International Federation of Anti-Leprosy Associations, accepts donations and will send further information on request. Write ALM, 1262 Broad St., Bloomfield, N.J. 07003.

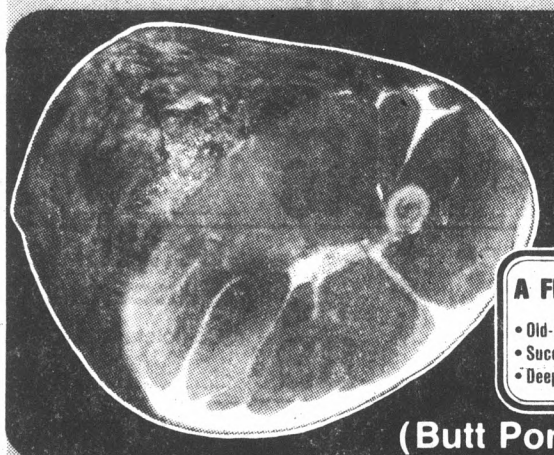

If children are your prime benevolence interest, send an extra gift to Boys Town, Hanna Boys Center, UNICEF or locally to Hillcrest Chaplaincy and Ministries or add to PTA and Boosters Clubs scholarship and school equipment funds.

General social concerns groups such as Millbrae/San Bruno Community Contact, Friends to Parents and the Salvation Army welcome cash gifts anytime; and if religious causes are your thing, local churches can supply you with names of local, national and international ones. Two worth considering are the Gideons and the American Bible Society, both Bible distribution groups in need of continuing cash c nribution s.

Environmental nonprofit groups are legion. Perhaps the best known nationally are the Audubon Society, Smithsonian Institution and the National Geographic Society. Membership in the National Wildlife Federation, the Sierra Club or Friends of the Earth entitles one to the legislative lobbying efforts of these groups in addition to information about environmental protection issues.

Greenpeace Foundation, recognized internationally for its nonviolent, intensely personal efforts in behalf of whales and harp seals and General Whale, an educational organization decimating factual information about marine mammals through museum exhibits and printed materials, aim to awaken concern about our total earth environment.

A donation to Greenpeace takes on added significance this year in that it may be made in memory of slain congressman Leo J. Ryan who received not long before his death an award from the group for his interest and efforts in curbing the slaughter of baby harpseals in Newfoundland.

Donations to the Sempervirens Fund, the Nature Conservancy and the State Parks Foundation can be specified for parkland acquisition. Currently the Sempervirens Fund is nearing a $280,000 two year goal to be reached by Jan. 10, 1979, the date for final purchase payment on the 730-acre Mountain Shadows Ranch adjacent to Castle Rock State Park in the Santa Cruz Mountains. The California State Parks Department is contributing matching funds. Write P.O. Box 1141-110, Mountain View, 94022 for information.

The Nature Conservancy is involved currently in two major California fund raising campaigns — one to acquire as an environmental refuge Santa Cruz Island in the Channel Islands off Santa Barbara and another to purchase land along the Big Sur Coast south of Monterey. Contact NC, 425 Bush St., San Francisco, 94108.

State Parks Foundation land rehabilitation goals have been mentioned before this fall in Perspective. In addition to its special funds, $25 membership ($10 is deductible) entitles one to an annual state parks day use permit, periodic bulletins, maps and newsletters as well as assistance in making overnight camping reservations. The foundation also offers a chance for capital investment. Signed, limited edition, original lithographs of the Old Bale Grist Mill in the Napa Valley, 17 X 25 inches in size, are available for $300 framed or $200 unframed; $200 or $130 respectively is a deductible contribution toward restoration of the pictured mill.

If your soul appreciates whimsy and your purse value, you might want to become a "tree hugger" or a "totem sponsor" or even provide a New Year "Earth gift" for yourself, a friend or relative. "Tree huggers" hold annual totally tax deductible membership cards providing free entry and waiving all parking fees in the East Bay Regional Park District. Write "Memberships," EBRPD, 11500 Skyline Blvd., Oakland 94619.

'Big Foot' Is a Hoax

By DR. DAVID R. BARNETT

Question:
What do you think of the legendary "Big Foot?" As a medical man and an animal specialist, is there any possible chance that such a creature could exist?

In order for creatures to "carry on the species" there usually has to be two — in all the photos and accounts of "monsters in the woods" the hulking furtive monsters are always by him/her self. Where are the kids and tte rest of the family? J. K. L.

Answer:
My personal feeling has always been that "Big Foot" is a hoax, but I will admit that I have never studied the evidence closely. If he/she does exist and is an animal, then you are correct that there would have to be a member of the opposite sex to carry on the species. Their kids (Little Foot or Middle Foot?) must be well hidden because we have never heard of them. It must be a hoax — if anyone has proof to the contrary, I'd like to hear from them.

Question:
I lost 18 canaries last fall. The doctor I took them to didn't seem to know what was wrong with them or what to do after an autopsy on several of them. Is it difficult to determine the cause and treatment of bird illnesses? P. B.

Answer:
The treatment of birds is a specialty, just as treating dogs and cats is a specialty. Although I treat a few parakeets and canaries I certainly don't consider myself competent to handle serious problems with them and will refer these cases to specialist. Sometimes even experts will have difficulty diagnosing and treating a serious condition. So, after this buildup, the answer to your question is — yes, it can be difficult to determine the cause and treatment of bird illness.

Question:
I think this is a good time of the year to remind people to give animals Christmas gifts that are not going to harm them. Flimsy plastic or metal toys are the worst — our Gee-Gee would be alive this Christmas if we'd have been more careful. She choked to death on a plastic pretzel-shaped plaything given to her by a neighbor. H. G.

Answer:
I couldn't agree with you more. Every year there are many animals that become ill or die due to chewing and swallowing toys, Christmas tree decorations, etc. Be careful with your pets during this season of the year, it can be a very traumatic time.

Fast Action Game

By RICHARD MOON

"Battlestar Galactica" is probably the most expensive television series ever launched. The first seven hours of film reportedly cost $7 million to produce. That's a lot of money and is more than twice the amount spent on the average prime-time show.

The special effects for the show are spectacular and TV critics have predicted this series will be a great success.

These days when a TV series or a movie shows promise of making it big, you can be sure that there will follow a whole raft of product tie-ins. "Battlestar Galactica" is no exception. There are already the inevitable T-shirts, comic books, posters, bubble gums and toys and, of course, a new board game.

Published by Parker Brothers, it is for two to four players, ages seven to fourteen and called, appropriately enough, "Battlestar Galactica."

Like the TV series, the game has a plot. A Cylon Raider (the Cylons are the villains of the series) has been disabled and abandoned. It floats defenseless in outer space. Four pilots manning new Colonial Viper space fighters are each assigned to capture the raider and bring it back to the mother ship for inspection. The winner is the first player to capture the Cylon Raider and bring it to "Battlestar Galactica." On the mission, the pilots simulate actual combat conditions and their orders are to use their weapons not to destroy each other but to prevent other players from being the first to capture the raider.

Chorale of CSM Makes Fund Appeal

In the aftermath of the cancellation of its Dec. 3 concert at St. Bartholomew's Church in San Mateo, the Masterworks Chorale of the College of San Mateo has opened a Christmas fund-raising drive.

According to the choir's founder and director, Galen Marshall, the concert was cancelled because emergency funding appeals to several foundations and local businesses were turned down.

The concerts were formerly paid for by the College of San Mateo through its Community Education Program, but the financial support was discontinued after the passage of Proposition 13.

The Chorale is sending out personal appeals, signed by individual choir members, to persons known to be supporters of the choir. Peninsula business firms are also being asked to contribute, according to Bruce Cameron, instructor at the college and chairman of the fund drive.

The immediate object of the fund-raising drive is to cover expenses for the double performance of Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis" Feb. 25 in St. Bartholomew's Church, San Mateo, and on March 4 in St. Mary's Cathedral, San Francisco. Soloists for the performances will be chosen from finalists in the Metropolitan Opera District Auditions.

A SPECIAL LIMITED OFFER FROM THE TIMES

The $3.25 monthly, home-delivery rate to The Times was established on June 1, 1974. Since that time, the costs of producing and delivering a newspaper have increased tremendously.

- ✓ During 1979, wages and salaries will be approximately 50% above the 1974 level.

MANY OTHER EXPENSES HAVE INCREASED SIMILARLY!

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Daly City got an elevator for Christmas. It's part of a $340,000 federally funded project to make City Hall more accessible to the handicapped. Other modifications made were installing parking spaces for the handicapped, modifying restrooms, hooking up speakers outside main entrances and building a wheelchair ramp.

Theater Program

A slow, ritualistic pace, mysterious masked players and hypnotic music are the unusual elements in the dramatic productions of Sausalito's innovative Snake Theater.

On Thursday, at 8 p.m. at the Exploratorium, Larry Graber, musical director from Snake Theater, will present "Music in a Masked Theater: Drama or Performance Art."

Using video-taped recordings of some of Snake Theater's previous productions and aided by several masked assistants, Graber will demonstrate how music and movement can suggest to the observer that the stage is not being used to simply imitate reality.

Mayor Scores Holiday Trash Pick-Up Gesture

San Bruno Mayor Dick Griffith Thursday charged the San Bruno Garbage Co. of having "recklessly uneconomical management" after distributing flyers indicating extra garbage service will be available during the next two weeks.

In a memo to the City Council, City Manager Gerald Minford and the public, Griffith attached copies of a mailer and a doorhanger distributed by the garbage company.

Those communications indicated that there would be no garbage collection on Christmas or New Year's Day and that as an extra service, the company will pick up an extra 30-gallon garbage can during the weeks of Dec. 25 and Jan. 1.

"The attached copies of San Bruno Garbage Co.'s Yuletide extravagant waste of funds exacted from San Bruno ratepayers under the gun of the recent scavenger worker strike against it serve to emphasize the exorbitance of Mr. (George) Corey's successful demands, which we were forced to accept, and to remind us of the urgency of seeking another means of collecting this city's garbage," Griffith wrote.

For 25 days in September, teamsters struck the garbage company which contracts with the city to provide garbage collection. Corey, a Millbrae attorney, represented the garbage company in negotiations with the city. Griffith was the city's negotiator.

"The cost of distributing the enclosed communications by the San Bruno Garbage Co. (out of the excess profits foreseeable of a half-million dollars accumulated from the recent gouge) is estimated in excess of $2,000," Griffith continued.

"It is an example of the San Bruno Garbage Co.'s recklessly uneconomical management that these two communications were distributed separately, one as a doorhanger and the other through the mail.

"Combining them in one delivery would have saved at least a thousand dollars," the mayor said. "Proper planning could have had them included in utility bill mailings at a very minimal cost."

Griffith said, "The expenditure amounts to a public relations con at the ratepayers expense."

Vince Della Cella, manager of the San Bruno Garbage Co., Friday said the distribution of flyers was "not a

SSF Postpones Action On Fire Department

Possible reorganization of the South San Francisco Fire Department will remain in limbo for another few weeks.

Several proposals for reorganizing the department were presented Wednesday to the City Council, but no firm conclusions were reached.

City Manager Walter Birkelo revealed that he had one more plan the council might consider and suggested a review of that plan be made next week.

After the meeting, Birkelo said he would not discuss the details of that plan until after the council subcommittee on reorganizing the Fire Department met next Tuesday.

Fire Chief Derk Zylker said the department was against reorganization at this time.

He said his staff was concerned that reorganization would mean some positions would be consolidated and, that if they were, the quality of service would be adversely affected.

The chief noted that the department now has two separate full-time positions for a training officer and for a paramedic captain. His staff does not want those positions combined, Zylker said.

In reviewing the three reorganization plans that have been proposed, he noted that all of them involve realigning the top administrative positions.

As the department is organized now, four administrators assist the chief in supervising the department.

The three plans propose consolidating those four positions into three division chief positions and then realigning their job duties.

The cost savings resulting from reorganization would range from about $10,600 to $23,750.

Council members Terry Mirri and Roberta Teglia said they saw no need to change the department's administrative structure.

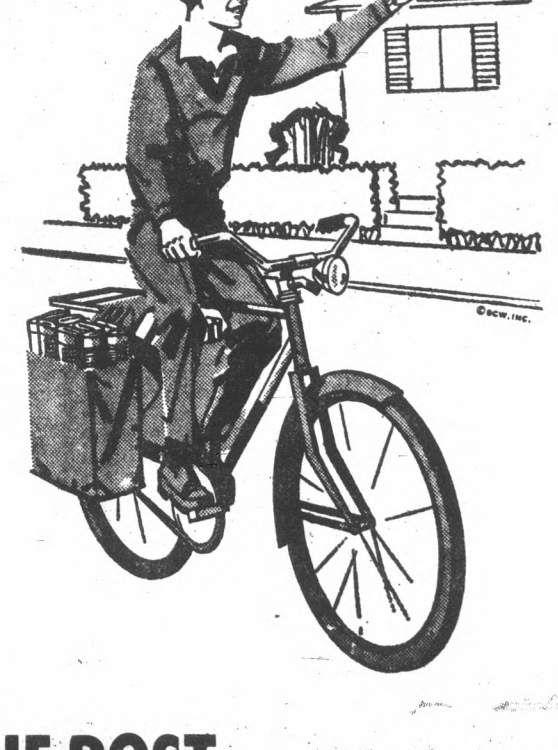

"Change for the sake of change is not healthy," said Mirri, noting that the council should not be "fiddling" with the paramedic captain and training officer positions.

When the department was told to cut back its budget because of the passage of Proposition 13, it did so, Mirri said, adding that further budget cuts are not needed at this time.

Mrs. Teglia and Mirri supported leaving the department as is and filling two critical administrative vacancies — the assistant chief and the training officer positions.

The council has held off on filling those positions until it was known how the department would be organized.
